EX-GOVERNOR GRAY HOME

FROM THE WILD AND WOOLY WEST.

He Talks Interestingly of Washington Territory, San Francisco, Utah and the Mormons-flow He Went Bathing in the Great Salt Lake,

Ex-Gov. Gray returned Friday from an extended trip through the North and West and along the Pacific slope. He looks in excellent health and is evidently able to stand the taxation of continued travel without ill effects. It was his first trip among the territories, and he expressed himself highly repaid for his journey. He made the entire trip alone, Mrs. Gray disliking the idea of extensive travel in the summer time. To a SENTINEL reporter the governor last night talked very interestingly of the region which he visited. "I went out," said he, "over the Northern Pacific by Duluth, and through Dakota, Montana and Idaho, and into Washington territory. I was in Washington terrifory some three weeks, and I then went up on Diget sound and up to British Columbia. I was at Tacoma, Seattle, Whatcomb and other cities of that territory. Washington territory is a good compley; they've got fine climate, coal, and plenty of iron. The territory is well watered, and what is called West Washington, east of the Cascade mountains, is finely timbered. The principal timber is fir and it grows very large. The towns in the territory are all growing very rapidly, and there is a tremendous immigration. It is a territory of great resources, and I think is going to make a fine country. I went from Tacoma to San Francisco by railroad, and the scenery along the route was magnificent. From 10:30 in the forenoon until 4 o'clock in the evening we could see Mount Shasta, with its crest covered with snow, from the carwindow. There has been some wonderful rail road engineering in that western country. "San Francisco is a great city, and is rapidly growing. With its extensive trade from along the Pacific slope, and its Asiatic commerce, it is certainly destined to make one of the very greatest cities of the world. It is constructed, however, almost entirely of wooden buildings, and it appears to me there is danger there of a terrible conflagration some time. I visited Los Angeles, San Diego, and various towns in the grape growing region. In Southern California they have a very fine climate, and I guess that in those parts where they have water for irrigation anything will grow that comes up out of the earth. In some sections where they have those large and rich fruit farms it is really almost like a paradise. Outside of the districts where they have irrigation, however, there is an appearance of desolation, although some barley can be raised, and occasionally some corn. San Diego, Cal., has, I think, the finest site for building a city that I ever saw. I found that the great boom which was heard of in southern California a few years ago had about died down, and that it was very quiet there. The atten-tion is now turning to Washington territory. The population there is very cosmopolitan, as every state is represented. There are many people there from the East, and also many from the South

'Nevada is the worst country I saw. It is principally desert. There is very little water, and very small tracts are irrigated. The population is decreasing instead of increasing. It was admitted as a state more than twenty years ago, but at the last election only cast 12,000

"Salt Lake City is a nice town of about thirty-five thousand inhabitants. The great Salt Lake valley has plenty of water, and is stty well settled and cultivated. They think at Salt Lake City that the city will soon come under what is called gentile rule. There is no talk about republicans and democrats; it is all gentile and mormon. But the country outside of the city is settled almost exclusively by mormons. There is a large Swedish immigration to Utah just now, and they are all mormons The latter seem to be doing very successful work by sending their missionaries to Sweden. The mormon population, I observed, was principally composed of English, Scotch and Swedes. There were not many American mor-That is, the number was small, compared with the total population of the terri-

The Great Salt lake, close to Salt Lake City, is the most peculiar water I ever was in. It is about 20 per cent. salt. I went out to Garfield beach while I was there. That's the bathing resort. It is located about seventeen miles from the city, and there is a dummy road running out to it. Two hundred or three hundred people were there the day I visited the place. It is a pretty fine bathing resort. So peculiar is the water that you can sit upright in it, or can put your hands back of your head and lean back without danger of getting your mouth under water. With the least exertion of your hands you can move about, and do not have to guard against sinking. In fact, you can't sink. There is not a living thing in the lake. Nevertheless, the bathing is considered healthy and tonicky. 'The scenery on the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, through what is called the Grand canon, is very fine, It really cannot be described. As I saw it I thought of the expression used by Andrew Jackson Davis in referring to the next world-of 'awfully magnifi cent.' It is the canyon of the Arkansas river, and it rises almost perpendicularly for thou-

"I was surprised at Denver, which has a population of upward of 100,000 and is largely built up of good-sized brick blocks. The city is improving rapidly."

As to the manner in which the extreme West compares with the middle states and the East. Gov. Gray said: "While there is in California and other states of the Pacific coast a great deal of country that produces lavishly, there are also millions of acres which are worthless. When it comes to fertility of soil, stone, gravel, coal, timber, water, regularity of rainfall, and everything that it takes to make a country and sustain a population, the middle states have the advantage.

Gov. Gray stated that there was very little political talk in the West, and he had not heard much politics in his absence. "I do not think?" said he, "that the republican majority in Washington territory is very large. It is so small that if the democrats would only organize and make a fight they would stand an excellent opportunity of winning. In the election of delethe constitutional convention, emocrats carried what is called East Washington and the republicans West Washington. met Maj. #### Indigestion

IS not only a distressing complaint, of I itself, but, by causing the blood to become depraved and the system enfeebled, is the parent of innumerable maladies. That Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best cure for Indigestion, even when complicated with Liver Complaint, is proved by the following testimony from Mrs. Joseph Lake, of Brockway

Centre, Mich .: -"Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony, was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at all. Within the time mentioned several physicians treated me without giving re-lief. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I commenced use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced wonderful results. Soon after commencing to take the Sarsaparilla I could see an improvement in my condition. My appetite began to return and with it came the ability to digest all the food taken, my strength im-proved each day, and after a few months of faithful attention to your directions, I found myself a well woman, able to attend to all household auties. The medicine has given me a new lease of life."

HORSE FAIR.

This wonderful picture is one of the most remarkable art productions of the age. The figures are all life size, the canvas covering one-entire end of the gallery where it is exhibited. The scene represents a number of horses being driven, and for vigor of action and graces of motion has never been equalled. In the whole work the pose is so life-like, and the drawing is so true, that you can scarcely persuade yourself the scene is not real. Not only has this picture been exhibited in all the principal cities of Europe, but it has also been in the possession of two noted American millionaires. For years A. T. Stewart cherished it as the principal picture in his gallers, and upon the sale of his collection it was bought by Cornelius Vanderbilt for $50,000 and presented by him to the Metropolitan Museum of Art, where it is daily autrounded by groups of admirers. We are now handling a magnificent reproduction of this picture, printed on heavy plate paper. It inches long by 20 wide, which embraces not only all the beauty of a fine steel engraving, but enriches and intensifies the effect by combining a number of other tones and time so as to give the finest result yet attained by any known process. As a noted critic has said of it, you may gaze at this picture a hundred times a day and each time see some new beauty to please you, and some unexpected point of strength to excite your admiration.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.-The market opened easy at an advance over Saturday's closing of

%c, the strength being due to the reduced estimate of two points in the condition of the spring wheat crop by the Washington bureau. This estimate justifies the expectation of a total crop of 489,000,000 to 490,000,000 bushels. Additional strength was given to the market by the "bullish" early cables, public and private. From 773 cat the start for December wheat there was an improvement to 77% (@77%, with the bulk of the trading for the first hour around 77%@77%c. At 77%c a prominent local operator sold quite a line. The demand came principally from the "shorts," who covered freely. When estimates of to-day's receipts were announced the market took on additional strength and December bulged to 781%c, though there had been a reaction after the opening to 77%c. Fair weather was reported generally throughout the Northwest, with the temperature a little above normal. Speculative trading was not so heavy as on Saturday, and as the demand proved less urgent than was expected to result from the early bullish influence, there was a reaction of %c or so during the last hour of the session, closing being %@%c higher for the day. Corn ruled moderately active at times, but the greater part of the session the market was quiet. The demand was mainly from local shorts. The market opened 1/46/4c lower than Saturday, easy for a time, but soon became firmer, advancing 1/6%c, ruled steady and closed about the same as Saturday. In oats trading was fairly active, particularly at the opening, and operators, after offerng quite freely at the start, be came more conservative, and the rest of the day they were only fair. Shorts bought freely and after a slight decline at the opening, firmer feeling developed and prices advanced %c from inside figures, closing steady. The feeling in mess pork was somewhat unsettled and prices ruled irregular. Opening sales were made at 10c decline and a further reduction o 121/2@15c was submitted to. Later, more steadi receded again, closing quiet. Quite a good business was done in lard. Opening sales were made at 23/4@5c decline and a further reduction and the prices rallied 5@7%c, closing steady. Trading was moderately active in short ribs. Prices ruled 21/265c lower, though steady.
